WORKING-MEN.

A notice appears in the Telegraph of to-day, calling a meeting of smiths in favor of the tenhour system. It lies with themselves to decide whether they will labor twelve or thirteen hours practice. Methinks I see the time when "school for small wages, or ten hours for a higher rate. house" shall be but another term to designate a We think ten hours is long enough for any man to labor in every twenty-four, and we all know that the tendency of shortening the day is to increase the demand for labor, and consequently the wages of labor.

Old-fashioned folks have sometimes talked of the illegality and injustice of combinations; but we believe few, at the present time, are grannies enough to lecture us about such things. The world is getting to know that labor is worth all it will bring, and that it will bring any fair and reasonable price the workmen may determine to fix upon. They have only to be moderate, firm, true to themselves, and faithful to each other.

Increasing the price of labor cannot wrong or injure any one. They who may not choose to pay the price asked are not obliged to do so. of working would do so for four hours a day, as much would be produced as at present, the toil of those who now labor would be abridged so for the groundwork of legislation." to that period, better day-wages would be received, and all would be wiser, better, and happier.

What is wealth? It is but accumulated labor. An acre of land in Iowa may be worth a couple of dollars; an acre of land in New York city is worth a million. Why this difference? earnings, as it were, upon the latter.

The labor of one hundred thousand men for five days may be worth in the market a million of dollars; but they may combine, and ask eleven hundred thousand for it. Is this not right? The owner of the lot of land in New York may ask eleven hundred thousand dollars for it. Nobody questions his right: but why should he possess such a right if it be denied to the hundred thousand men? Is he greater than they? The world has so ruled it, but that day has gone by forever.

It is a noticeable fact, that in the pursuits in which men labor the greatest number of hours, the lowest rates of wages are paid; and womenwho, in all pursuits in which they are employed, are made to labor even a longer time than is required of men-receive invariably a more slender recompense than is paid to men engaged in like pursuits.

The laborers in the world are the many: the many have all social and political power; and the many deserve to suffer if they do not exercise it-coolly, deliberately, justly, mercifully, yet always for their own advantage.

"Divide and conquer" is a maxim that embodies the whole philosophy of the policy by which the working-men have ever been humbled and oppressed.

WORTHY OF NOTICE.

If the American Telegraph of to-morrow will be published engravings of one of the principal public edifices of Washington, with a particular description thereof.

Gentlemen in the Departments, and others, are informed that, after trying it, we find we cannot guarantee the delivery of the Telegraph to them before their departure for their homes, left at their residences instead of their places of business. This notice applies to those who this country. retire earlier than half-past three o'clock.

JENNY LIND .- The Baltimore Patriot states that a letter from P. T. Barnum has been received in that city, dated at St. Louis, which states that M'dlle Jenny Lind will give several concerts in Baltimore, between the 20th and 30th of April, prior to her going to New York. Jenny wept real, righty tears, when she left our city, and we will weep if she fails to revisit us on her return to the North. It is true, we have no considerable of a village, even in the absence of from the former: that august assemblage, and some of us have taste enough to admire the ringlets of the night-

We would commend, in the highest terms, a little book that has been presented to us, entitled "Arithmetical Definitions, or Questions and Answers, for the use of Schools. By Henry E. Woodbury, Washington: Printed by Henry Polkinhorn." A knowledge of these definitions will save little children a world of perplexity and trouble as they pass along from book to book in their educational progress.

POLITICAL. - The following appointments have been made within the past few days: George B. Sargent, brother of the editor of the Repub-lic, Surveyor General of Public Lands in Wis-consin and Iowa, vice Booth, removed; Morris E. Fuller, Postmaster at Little Falls, New York, vice Lee, removed; John T. Bush, late State Senator, Buffalo, appointed Marshal of North-ern District, vice Mr. Kellogg; Joseph R. Thompson, appointed Collector, Rochester, vice Elias R. Pond; Col. Willard, appointed Postmaster at Troy, vice Thomas Clowes; Mr. Washburn, editor of the Cattaraugus Whig, Indian Agent.

To which we have to add the following: Thomas Messenger, to be Postmaster at Corning, N. Y., vice Wm. B. Whitney, removed; and David W. Thomas, (recently removed by the New York canal board from an inspectorship,) to be Mail Agent on the Hudson river route, vice V. Prevost, removed.

As an item in the history of the times, it may be stated that the persons dismissed are in New York called Seward Whigs, and the appointees Fillmore Whigs.

MR. Tupper.-This gentleman, in a note to the New York Herald, corrects an error in the report of his speech, (on our first page.) He said, "I wish not to write a book about you."

This is kind, and we feel quite relieved. Why will our people belittle gentlemen who visit gale. This is the best time that any screw our country by lionizing them?

THE SPIRIT OF THE AGE.

The following short extract from a letter to Mr. Holbrook, just received, indicates this spirit. The active interest now prevailing on the same subject, among government function aries, both of our own and foreign nations, affords reliable proof that the anticipations manifested by the correspondent of Mr. H. are soon to be realized.

CONSTABLEVILLE, Loucis co., N. Y.

Josiah Holbrook, esq.

Dear Sir: The course of instruction you re commend is in harmony with the mental construction of man, and will inevitably come into Scientific Museum;" when young and old shall there congregate to read the blessed truths of God, as written upon his works; when youth shall be taught to love knowledge, and shall become eager in its acquisition; when man shall compass land and sea with delight to learn the untold wonders of creation; when he shall find that there is a much higher, holier enjoyment in the purest of science, than in the exercise of his sensual passions and appetites. May the time be hastened when science shall become so attractive as to depopulate prisons, tiplinghouses, "et omne genus"—the whole tribe of such establishments. When nature's method of instruction shall be pursued, the world will need few criminal laws and no State prisons. I am truly yours,

> EFFECT OF ABOLISHING CAPITAL PUNISHMENT. —The Secretary of State in Michigan, being asked by a Canadian gentleman how many con-victions for murder have taken place in that State since hanging was abolished, replies: In 1847, for manslaughter, 1; in 1848, murde

We find the foregoing in several newspapers, and presume it is correct, as it corresponds with other statements we have seen of equal authenticity. Yet we almost daily meet with the remark put forward by flippant writers, that "the abolition of the death penalty has been repented in Michigan, where the people wish the 'old law' restored!"

For ourselves, we believe the lapse of time has scarcely been sufficient to satisfactorily test the new order of things; but since the testimony afforded appears to be on the side of lenient laws, he assumes a fearful responsibility who volunteers his advocacy of the restoration of human strangling.

In our country no backward steps are taken. We are progressing, but not without the lights of Christianity and philosophy to guide us.

A New Invention.-We yesterday saw a drawing of a new invention, in the mannufac-ture of which India rubber is the principal article employed. It is especially for the use of gentlemen with long mustaches, and is remarkably simple. It is merely a strap with a spring at each end. The wearer attaches a spring to each mustache, passes the strap behind his head, and eats his soup without the trouble of head, and eats his soup without the trouble of final measure of Lord John Russell continues parting his mustaches to obtain entrance to his unabated. The Protectionist party is making mouth. This is an age of great inventions.

Horace Greeley very often says a smart thing, notwithstanding his abominable vagaries. Hear him: "We have no wish to engage travelling correspondents in Europe, not choosing to deepen the ignorance which already abounds with regard to that Continent."

THE GOVERNOR ELECT .- The recently elected Governor of Virginia, Joseph Johnson, esq., served many years in Congress; and if we mis-take not he served a tour of military duty at this place, in 1814, as Captain of a volunteer company of riflemen, from Harrison county. If so, he will to doubt take an early opportunity to visit his old camp ground.—Norfolk Herald.

DURABILITY OF WOOD .- The piles under London Bridge have been driven 500 years, and on examining them in 1846, they were found to be little decayed. They are principally elm. Old Savoy Place, in the city of London, was built 650 years ago, and the wooden piles, consisting upon recent examination, to be perfectly sound. Of the durability of timber in a wet state, the piles of the bridge built by Emperor Trajan over the Danube affords a striking example. One of these piles was taken up, and found to be petrified to the depth of three-quarters of an inch; but the rest of the wood was not different from its former state, though it had been driven

MESSRS. Now, Messrs.
